

FDA treats tattoo inks as cosmetics, but it has not approved any ink for injection into human skin.
The regulatory equivalent of applying premium eyeliner directly to a spleen.