Topping up one bottle from another is not stock rotation; it is undocumented formulation and contamination transfer.

Creating bespoke graveyard blends of vintage mystery liquids always ends spectacularly.