

Certain red tattoo pigments degrade upon exposure to sunlight and release phototoxic compounds.

The artwork prefers the shade.