

Microbial contamination can occur inside factory sealed bottles of tattoo ink during manufacturing processes. Hermetic seals do little to stop microscopic underground raves.