

Nanoscale particles of titanium dioxide white pigment have been documented migrating from tattoos to regional lymph nodes.

The white battalion has redeployed to the armpit.