

Witch hazel alcohol content varies from 14% to 30% across commercial extracts. Traditional astringency is mostly just a surprise guessing game for the epidermis.