

A

B

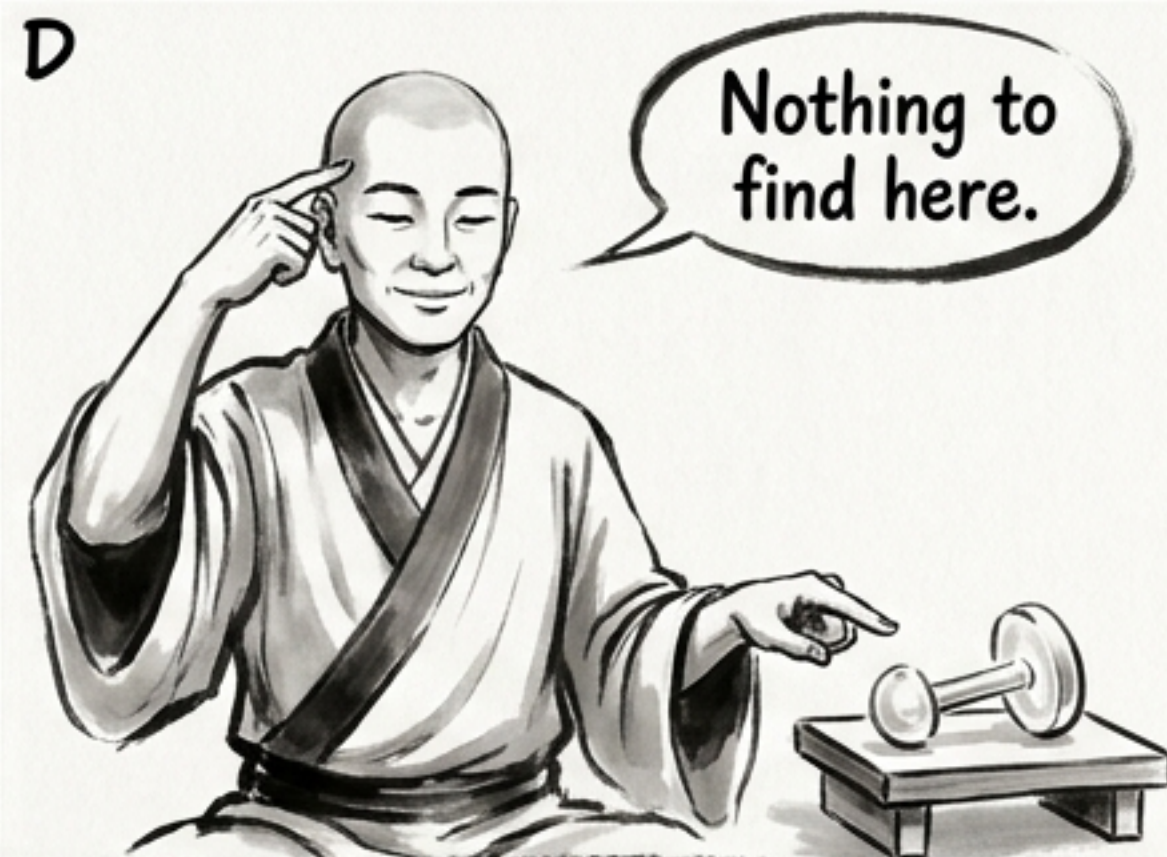

E

C

D

The compliance of polymer body jewelry relies on physical construction containing no nickel rather than passing localized release tests.
You cannot test for what the universe never included.