

Maintaining proper traceability requires recording the specific batch identifying code for every bottle of ink used.
Future archaeologists will deeply appreciate the paperwork