

Long taper needles deposit ink gradually for smooth transitions while short tapers deliver ink rapidly.
The firehose method completely lacks subtle grace.