

Woven magnum needles are offset in a staggered pattern, distributing pigment evenly across wide areas for maximum coverage. Painting the corners with a push broom is a bold artistic choice.