

Irritant reactions often stem from the chemical base of the cream rather than the numbing agent itself.

Tortilla chips pair poorly with industrial preservatives.