

Certain local health authorities consider a tattoo artist applying numbing cream to be practicing medicine without a license.

The unexpected doctorate comes with terrible bedside manner.