

Ringing in the ears and a sudden metallic taste are early warning signs of systemic toxicity.
She blamed the terrible acoustics of the waiting area.