

Dermal macrophages engulf the ink but cannot break the particles down, trapping the pigment securely in place.

The ultimate food coma.