

After the laser shatters the ink into smaller fragments, the lymphatic system can finally clear the debris.

The most intense street sweeping operation ever.