

Touching a fresh wound with unwashed hands is a primary cause of secondary bacterial infection.
Protocol dictates total atmospheric sterilization before scratching.