

Disrupting the wound bed during re-epithelialization removes ink particles along with the scab.

A masterpiece requires patience.