

Divide all supply purchases into 3 groups.

A-items are high-throughput daily essentials.

B-items are regular but less frequent consumables.

B-items are regular but less frequent consumables.

C-items are specialist or slow-moving products.

A nominally cheaper supplier substituting a core product costs more.
BUY CERTAINTY, NOT CATALOGUE VOLUME.