
Polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons in black inks act as photosensitisers that generate reactive intermediates under ultraviolet exposure.
Built-in reading lamps lack dimmer switches.