

Modern red azo pigments are disproportionately implicated in delayed hypersensitivity and foreign body reactions.

Handling the crimson requires maximum tactical gear.