

The first human trial of a rewritable photochromic nanoparticle ink involved exactly 11 participants.
A truly monumental gathering of almost a dozen people