

Thorough hand washing remains the most effective method for preventing infection transmission.
Advanced combat armor is no substitute for soap.