

A healing piercing naturally secretes a pale odourless fluid that forms a protective crust.

Sometimes a biological panic is just an overreaction to a perfectly functional body.