

Submerging a fresh piercing in lakes or hot tubs exposes the open channel to pathogens that thrive in warm moisture. The murky abyss will have to wait.