

Medical-grade random copolymers provide high flexibility and act as a shock absorber for pierced tissue.

Bouncing through life requires adequate suspension.