

Scars continue actively remodeling long after the surface wound has closed.

Cartography remains a notoriously unstable profession.