

Keloids aggressively grow and spread beyond the original borders of the wound.

The fugitive escaped by simply rising to the occasion.