

Hypertrophic scars are raised but remain stubbornly confined within the boundaries of the original injury.
Gravity is merely a suggestion to a sufficiently stubborn piece of wood.