

Tattoos on highly visible areas such as the face and neck can restrict traditional career prospects.

The interviewer simply could not handle such aggressive synergy.