

The assumption that lighter micro tattoos are easily removed with lasers is a notable misconception.

The star had apparently achieved total structural invincibility.