

Proper tattooing demands controlled infection management which often deteriorates when appointments are rushed.
The indoor monsoon was a refreshing alternative to standard sanitisation protocols.