

Rigid metal bars create mechanical leverage against expanding tissue, causing migration and rejection.
The baby is operating heavy machinery.