

Metal piercing jewellery creates a rigid lever at the piercing site that transmits force directly to the tissue under impact.

The belly button is heavily fortified.