The FDA has never approved a single tattoo ink formulation, making "FDA approved" on an ink label a marketing claim rather than a regulatory status.

The rubber stamp was bought on the internet.