

Washing hands with soap and water is the most effective method for removing physical soil and transient flora.
The legendary artifact of absolute purification was resting next to the bathroom sink the entire time.