

52.1 percent of individuals express interest in removing, covering, or revising at least one tattoo.
The human canvas occasionally requests a second draft.