

Rigid metal jewellery creates excessive mechanical leverage against moving tissue during physical impact.

High-leverage facial hardware presents structural liabilities during unexpected impacts.