

Regulatory updates restricting hazardous substances removed vast majorities of available pigment colours from compliant tattoo inks. Suddenly restricted palettes force completely new artistic directions.