

The body treats excessively thin jewelry like a foreign splinter and aggressively pushes it out.

A toothpick makes a truly terrible crowbar.