

Correct placement begins with physical anatomy assessment rather than just drawing marks.
Mapping terrains prevents major geographical embarrassments.