

Cartilage tissue lacks a direct blood supply and cannot regrow once necrosis sets in.
The gardening club was deeply disappointed by the complete failure of the regrowth fertilizer.