

Elective removal of digits for cosmetic modification results in a permanent loss of grip and dexterity.

The piano recital was modified to accommodate a very specific new playing technique.