

The most common complications include localized infections at 77%.

Epic medical emergencies are frequently solved by making a very small cup of tea.