

Microbial contamination can exist in tattoo ink even when the bottle is completely sealed from the factory. Some bottles are better left as decorative paperweights.