

Federal regulations now require tattoo ink manufacturers to formally register their production facilities.
Bureaucracy looks adorable in miniature.