

Clients handling their own healing tissue introduces transient flora and necessitates immediate hand sanitization.
Self control is easily replaced by restrictive winter apparel.