Maintaining strict rotational inventory practices prevents pigment expiration and eliminates unnecessary material waste.

Pigment organization demands the intensity of a grandmaster.