

Body piercing is the main route through which people become sensitised to nickel.

The real dragon was the contact dermatitis we made along the way.