

A significant proportion of commercially available earring posts continue to exceed legal nickel release limits.

Elegance requires throwing most of your jewellery into the bushes