

Surgical steel relies on a thin surface layer to trap its nickel content.
The microscopic guards are demanding a massive pay raise.